The wealth and fashion of half a dozen great cities were represented at this ball, but matrons and debutantes were all colless were represented at this ball, but matrons and debutantes were all colless were represented at this ball, but matrons and debutantes were all colless were represented at this ball, but matrons and debutantes were all colless were represented at this ball, but matrons and debutantes were all colless were represented at this ball, but matrons and debutantes were all colless were represented at this ball, but matrons and the strains of Au Claire de la Lune echoed plaintively down the hall, the unknown uttered a plercing shriek and fell full length on the ballroom figor. In an instant all was confusion and her apparantly liteless body was born away. Dr. Boriand was called and diagnosed the case as catalepsy.

Inquiry, however, developed the fact that the girl was the victim of hypnotic surgestion; that she had never read "Trilby" had never been to a ball before and actually had never waltzed before in her life. She was introduced to Biorr Kellen, her escort, by a young man whose name is not given because criminal proceedings are to be instituted against him. He hypnotized the first early in the evening, drove her to the hutel in a dosed carriage and borrowed the finery in which she was dressed.

AMERICAN LITERATURE.

Remarks of the London Times on the (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

LONDON, Aug. 16.—(By Atlantic Cable.) Special articles appeared this morning in the Times on the comparison of the drink laws of England and morning in the Times on the comparison of the drink laws of England and America, and the possession of literature in America. The latter article says that although in no country in the world is literature held in a greater exteem than in America, authorship is more poorly paid there than in England, and the immensity of the country and the difficulties of the circulation of literature makes publishers charry of encouraging young and unknown talent. The active minds, therefore, find more profitable fields in commerce, etc., than in literature, and there is no apparent prospect of a new Lowell or Emerson arising.

In an editorial the Times discusses this article and the copyright question, especially, as it concerns Canada, "in which," the Times goes on to say, "Mr. Chamberlain, as Secretary of State for the colonies, has a trcuble some question to settle. He can give but one answer to Canada's request. Naturally the Americans would say: "If the Canadians are authorized to sell stolen goods in our midst we must be authorized to do so also."

The editorial concludes: "It seems hardly worth while to demolish a laboriously-constructed edifice of international honesty for the sake of putting money into the pockets of seven or eight Canadian firms."

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 .- Secretar gave what he regarded as an object lesson to the employees of his department yesterday. Yesterday being the semi-monthly pay-day, he ordered the pay-master of the department to pay out 11000 in silver coin, this money weighter electropeut.

master of the department to pay out $1000 in silver coin, this money weighing sixty pounds.

The silver coin was paid to all the employees about the grounds of the Agricultural Department to messengers, and well-known silverites in various positions in the department. Unless Mr. Morton receives a petition to the contrary, it is expected that silver will be paid out again and again to the men who are known to be favorable to it.

There was a good deal of kicking among the employees and a good many of them have indicated to the paymaster that they want paper money on their next pay-day. One of the men, who was given seven! Pounds of the silver to carry home last evening, remarked today: "I think Secretary Morton is very unfair in what he terms his object lesson. He might as well give us nickel pieces or coppers and if we protest that it is not a convenient form of money to carry, he might say by that protest that we are not in favor of copper and nickel coin. As a matter of fact, if a man were paid, say $16,000 in gold coin, which he would be asked to carry home with him, he would protest as strongly as we do about being paid our monthly salary in silver dollars."

ITS SOURCES OF GOLD SUPPLY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.-In view of the sion that is now going on in the apers as to the government bond syndicate's source of gold supply, it might be well to state that since its formation the syndicate has endeavored to secure for the United States treasury the greater part of the output of gold to secure for the United States treasury the greater part of the output of gold mines throughout the United States. They have sot paid a direct premium for gold bars, but they have, as is usual with buillon-dealers, paid the expense of transferring the gold from the smelters to the government assay office, and sometimes have divided these expenses with the sellers of buillon, and have paid the usual brokerage to buillon-dealers for securing the gold bars. By this means, it is believed, the syndicate has secured gold bars to the amount of $2,000,000 at no greater cost than the normal differences in value between coin and buillon. The greater portion of this gold has been represented by assay office checks, given in payment for the bars, and these checks are now being turned into the sub-treasury, legal tenders being accepted by the syndicate in payment thereof. NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(Special Dispatch.) The Herald has an interesting cable from London giving an interview of their correspondent with the Chinese Minister to London, Brussels, Paris and Rome. For instance, at Cheng-Fu, some boys had thrown little stones at missionaries and when remonstrated with had persisted. The better class of Chinese are quick to appreciate their superiority in many respects, in machinery for example, and Dr. Stevenson had his hands full attending to his numerous patients among all classes. The Viceroy of this province may be regarded as a typical specimen of his class, or a little worse if anything. Receiving merely a nominal salary from headquarters, he made up the deficiency out of the pockets of the people, with such good results that in a few years he amassed no less than $50,000,000. He even allowed his rapacity to get the better of his discretion and behaved so tyrannically that his own countrymen grew disgusted. The popular clamor was so great that the central government was forced to recognize it, and last year the Viceroy was disgraced. But he could not be removed until a successor was appointed, a process involving considerable delay in China. Seeing himself on the brink of political annihilation, he thought to regain favor and make an enviable reputation by turning the misisonaries out of the province. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS NEW YORK, Aug. 16 .- The Herald's correspondent at Guayaquil, Ecuador, sends word that he has just received news of a battle which was lought near Bio Bamba between the forces of Al-faro and Sarasti. The former acrieved a decisive victory and Col. Medoro Alfaro took prisoner Col. Lizarzaburn, Gen. Sarasti's chief of staff. But it is believed that the loss must have been heavy, as 8000 men were engaged on both sides. It is known, however, that Gen. Alfaro's soldiers took 100 pris-Gen. IT DOES LOOK SERIOUS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The impression prevails in both the State and Navy departments that the revolution in Ecuador will be quite a serious affair before the international troubles there are settled. No advices have been received concerning recent engagements. The State Department has received from Minister Tillman at Quito a dispatch dated July 20, which shows what the situation was at that time. In it Minister Tillman says that there are no indications of an early settlement of the complicated political conditions of that country.

Indications of an early settlement of the complicated political conditions of that country.

Alfaro, who arrived at Guayaquil on the 18th or 19th of June, was still there with an armed force amounting, as claimed by his friends, to four or five thousand men. The government force at Quito was estimated at two thousand which, it was thought, might be increased to four thousand. The plateaus on the eastern and western ranges of mountains were controlled at the time of Tillman's writing by the small army of Conservatives. Gen. Sarasti, with one thousand men, was at Guarands, a hundred miles northwest of Quito near the main road to Guayaquil from Quito. The government forces had captured fifty or sixty men from the south of Quito, who, in company with two hundred others, were on their way to the south.

Bishop Schunacher with three hundred and fifty men was expected to arrive at Quito July 20. There was to be a procession in his honor and he was to be crowned by the archibishop with laurels and wreaths of flowers. It seems that he had defeated a few hundred of the followers of Alfaro. Alfaro's plans and his strength were not definitely known at Quito when Tillman wrote. He says that it was admitted on all sides that his advance to the capital a few weeks before would have been easy. Tillman adds that the strangest feature of the revolution is that, with the exception of a few officers or leaders, the armies are composed of the poorest of the population, that well-dressed men take their daily walks and throng the plazas unmolested and seemingly wholly disinterested as to the result.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.-The Herald's NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The Herald's correspondent in Guayaquii, Ecuador, sends word that another sharp and fiercely-contested battle has taken place between the forces of Alfaro and Sarasti. The report comes from the correspondent, who is marching with Gen. Alfaro's forces, and says that Sarasti, who fought desperately, was defeated. Alfaro took more than one hundred prisoners. Several hundred were killed in the battle. Alfaro's forces now occupy Rio Bamba.

Large Bucketfuls of Broken Glass and China Attest the Fact That He Had Been There—He Was With Billy Emerson.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—There is ttle or no profit in pulling teeth for acrobatic song and dance men. At least last evening. A song-and-dance mar of the break-neck school had just beer operated upon. From the dental shorthe artist went to the Receiving Hospital, with the tooth he wanted pulled still in place, while Dr. Morris and his assistants swept up large bucketsful of broken glass and set the furniture aright.

The trouble was all caused by Thomas Johnson, the knockabout artist, Imagining himself on the stage while under the influence of ether. In fancy, the quiet little man saw the glare of the footlights and the applauding multitude in front. He heard the inspiring music of the orchestra, and the voice of his in front. He heard the inspiring music of the orchestra, and the voice of his black-faced partner gasping out the refrain of the old-time song and dance. Then, when the breaks and filp-flops came in Johnson turned himself loose with startling results, Before they could subdue the acrobatic vocalist, he had damaged the office to the extent of about $50, and shattered the nerves of three sub-bodied men who tried to stop the shew. The police and a patrol wagon arrived, and the minstrel's performance ended without, the usual screaming afterplece.

Johnson first called on Dr. Morris yesterday morning. He had an aching molar, which he wanted removed, and the dentist undertook the job. At the request of the patient the dentist administered laughing gas and tackled the tooth. While under the imfuence of the gas Johnson did not develop any eccentricities of movement other than to struggle slightly. Late in the afternoon he petupued, and asked to have the root of the tooth extracted. He explained that his constitution was too strong for gas, and suggested that chloroform or ether be given him.

The patient was placed in the chair, and in a few homents lapsed info unconsclousness. Morris pickled up a pair of forceps, but just then Johnson made a gracefur gesture with his hands, and warbled:

"What pleasure there is dancing in the

"What pleasure there is dancing in the sunlight, sunlight,

When all ground me seems to smile."

With that the prostrate acrobat gave the instrument shelf a kick, and those around him did not seem to smilled. Before the dentist, the doctor and the assistant could realize what was up. Johnson, had leaped from the chair, and waltzed out into the parlor. Striking a picturesque pose in the center of the room, he sang.

"Oh, I hate to tell, but then I must; Within her heart i place my trust;

Within her heart I place my trust;
"Twas sitting in the garden where the little butterfly reposes;
How how her, none own cell twas love among the roses."

X back somersault goes with this verse, and Johnson did gat out the act.
Lightly as a bird he rose in the air, but in turning his feet collided with the cut-glass shades on the chandeller.
In his befuldled condition the artist must have misstaken the orash for deaf-the cut-glass shades on the chandeller. In his aberudided condition the artist must have mistaken the crash for deafening applause. At any rate he responded to the encore with:

"Down where the honeysuckles grow."
Morris and his friends made a rush for the sone and dance man, but he eluded them, and threw is doubled twister, which landed him in the middle of the sofe, snapping both the side plees in twain. The three men then piled on top of the artist, but he rammed one leg through a Japanese screen and sang:
"She's my darling, she's my Queen; She's my darling, she's my Queen; She's the tafest one I've seen."
With three gentlemen at his back Johnson could not execute the steps nor any of the grand and lofty tumbling which accompanies this ditty, but while struggling with his keepers Johnson managed to trill the refrain of "McGinty, the Swell of the Sea."

Johnson managed to trill the refrain of "McGinty, the Swell of the Sea." without much regard to time and measure, and breaking two glided chairs: "Down by the seashore flirt with the girls, s
Using our spare time picking seashells and pearls;
As I stroll by, the ladies make way, Here comes McGinty, the swell of the say."

Here comes McGinty, the swell of the say.

There were no seashells for the artist to use in illustrating his song, but the cuspidors fully answered the purpose. He cleared the rooms with these weapons, and then smashed two plateglass mirrors and one yase. By that time Johnson had exhausted his repertoire and likewise his wind: He was again recaptured and sent to the hospital. The ride in the open air regived the young man, who had no recollection of the performance he gave while in a trance. Johnson used to travel with Billy Emerson, the famous minstrel, and was regarded as one of the best in the business. Dr. Morris says that he would not tackle the acrobatic yocalist again for $500.

For the fast two days and nights Wyatt's mind-has seemed to leave him at intervals when, no hope of his fectory? To the same no hope of his fectory? To the same two days and nights Wyatt's mind-has seemed to leave him at intervals when, in a half-dreamy way, he imagines himself on the road again, holding up trains and going through the many lawless scenes of his life. He seems to think himself in command of train-robbers, and gives orders to the boys in a stern manner, cursing them when they do not obey orders. At one time he yelled out: "That's the way to do it, boys; make every last one of them 'cough up.' We will make more money out of this train-robbery than we could make swiping horses all summer; 'cough up' here, old fellow—how much have you got?" etc.

Zip is sinking fast; not eating anything worth speaking of, and it will not be long until the noted bandit will be compelled to succumb to the inevitable and go over the range to meet the boys of his gang who have gone before.

The schooner Ellen which is owned and sailed by Capt. Truxillo, a Britisher, registered at Trinidad, passed under the muzzle of a Venezuelan gunboat, and, though the captain sent the English flag to his miszenmast-head, the Venezuelans simply ignored it and continued their firing, rending the sails of the British vessel in several places and declined to cease firing until the British vessel had hove to and allowed the Venezuelan cruiser to come alongside. Capt. Truxillo reported as above to the harbor master at Port of Spain. He was saked to make a sworn declaration of the facts as stated, which he immediately did. The captain explains that he was on a voyage out from Trinidad to the Venezuelan port of Mautrin and when within two miles of there a venezuelan coast-guard cruiser fired a shot at his vessel. The British, ensign was sent up on the migzenmast-head but no notice was taken of it. In the City Jail.

Louis C. Knell is a gay troubadour whose fondness for violins has gotten him into serious trouble. The knell of the prison door sounded in Knell's ears yesterday evening as it closed behind him with a bang, leaving him immured from the wicked world where he may reflect in solitude over his evil deeds. Detective Hawley arrested Knell on four charges of embezzlement, the article embezzled in each case being a violin. The instruments belonged respectively to Leo Wilkle, an employee of the Cudahy Packing Company; J. Brown, of the Southern California music store; E. Latsaner, of No. 60 South Spring street, and R. Sargent of Banning street, and the calculation of Banning street, and rever valued all the way from $50 to $150, that of Latsaner being worth the latter sum.

Knell is described as a smooth young rascal with an olly tongue. The latter qualification is attested by the fact that his ostensible occupation was that of a book agent. It seems that Knell had a better way of making money though, than selling books. He is a good musician, and, with his glib tongue it was easy for him to go to the owner of a violin, ask for the privilege of playing on the instrument and then borrow it for a few days. As soon as he had the fiddle in his possession he would hie himself to the nearest pawnshop and pawn ft. for all his "uncle" would advance on it. In this way he kept himself well supplied with pocket money when the book business was dull.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTA LONDON, August 16.-(By Atlantic mons today by Mr. Price, who inquired if the government was aware that the present exclusion of Canadian store cattle had caused and was causing severe loss in some of the agricultural districts, and whether the restriction can ricts, and whether the Board of Agricul-ore moved.

The president of the Board of Agricul-ure, Walter Long, replied, saying that is late as July 10, cases of cattle suf-lering from pleuro-pneumonia had been found among the cargoes coming from Canada, and the government, in conse-quence, must maintain the restrictions of last year's committee. Lough said it was a great mistake on the part of such successive governments to ignore the poverty in Ireland, when taxation had been increased one and one-half times during the last half century, while the population had decreased.

Sir Albert Rollit, member of the south division of Islington and president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom, progressive Conservative, remarked that he did not see any reason why the government should not settle the eviction difficulty this session.

Mr. Healy criticised the action of Gerald Balfour, in obtaining an agreement from Judge Bewlay, one of the dommissioners, to defer judgment in the land cases before him, pending the government Irish land legislation. Healy said that any English judge would have been removed from the bench for making such an agreement, and describing the sub-land commissioners as not being judges, but day laborers.

The Speaker was frequently compelled to call Healy to order. The latter concluded with the remark that the government majority represented fluctuations in English political feeling, while the Nationalists represented the permanent element of Irish nationality. Dillon's amendment was finally negatived by a vote of 257 to 123.

John Redmond's amendment calling on the government to declare their polity in regard to home rule, the reform of the land law, the compulsory purchase of land, evictions of tenants and the industrial condition of Ireland, was rejected by a vote of 247 to 113.

John J. Clancy, the Irish Nationalist member from Dublin county, moved an amendment in favor of reconsidering the sentences of Irish political prisoners. He hoped the government would do something to close this old sore and to promote a better feeling between the two countries by granting them amnesty.

two countries by granting them amnesty.

Sir Matthew White Ridley, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, said that, it was his duty to satisfy himself whether there had been any miscarriage of justice. At present he was engaged in a research to ascertain this. If the 4ccused were guilty, their crimes were atrocious and deserved the severest punishment. He was unable to promise general amnesty. Clancy thereupon withdrew the amendment.

The Times says that the Irish meeting, to all intents and purposes, resulted in a Healyite victory. The Dillolnite majority was so narrow that when the committee was elected a fair when the committee was elected as fair was a fair w when the committee was elected a fair share of representation was accorded the Healyites, namely, T. M. Healy, E. R. V. Knox and Arthur O'Connor. Monday's meeting will be devoted to questions of policy.

The country was scoured by hundreds of armed men and bloodhounds, and that night Henry Mitchell Smith was caught, He has been held in jail ever since. Tonight Mrs. Hudson positively identified Smith. This caused great excitement, and a strong guard was placed around the fall, but could not prevent a large crowd from assembling at the jail, and they remained there all night. The crowd was orderly, but determined.

Nothing will probably be done until near morning, when the crowd comes in from Payne Station, where Mrs. Hudson lives. About one hundred and fifty armed men are getting ready there for the march on the jail in this city. There are many armed men here, determined to prevent lynching M they possibly can; but the visitors can get help here as well as resistance. After midnight the crowd still remains near the jail, and the neighbors of Mrs. Hudson are known to be coming.

Two men, just arrived from the neighborhood of the orime, say the people there expect to let the law take its course. This is thought to be a ruse, and it is feared that an effort will be made to take the negro from the courtroom at the examining trial tomorrow. A strong guard will be established at the courtroom, and all who enter will be searched for concealed weapons.

Mrs. Leak Will Now Emit What She Knows About the Emanuel Church Horrors.

The Haskins Will Case-Rumor That Mail-clerk Colver Has Been Dis-charged—A Shooting Affray Between Two Doctors.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Since the trial of Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont has been pending both prosecution and defense have intimated from time to time that have intimated from time to time that they have important additional evidence which had not been developed at the preliminary examination. The strong card of the prosecution has been sprung at last, to the infinite disgust of the police authorities.

tinctly saw Blanche Lamont and Theodore Durrant enter the church. Mentally commenting on the girl's imprudence she waited the exit of the pair. Although she watched for over an hour neither Miss Lamont nor Durrant left the church.

April 3 was the last day upon which Blanche Lamont was seen alive.
Earlier in the afternoon she had been seen on a street car with Durrant.
Half an hour later Martin Quinlan, an attorney, met the pair in the neighborhood of Emanuel Church. About 5 o'clock George King, the church organist, saw Durrant come down from the beliry flushed. Blanche Lamont was never seen alive again, and Mrs.
Leak furnishes the link between the testimony of Quinlan and King.

The atttorneys for the defense were somewhat disturbed in court today over the publication of Mrs. Leak's narrative. The prisoner also showed signs of uneasiness for the first time since his arrest. The defendant's attorneys declined to discuss Mrs. Leak's story, but admit its seriousness.

Out of 150 veniremen summoned today all but twenty-two were excused by the court on various pretexts. None of the remainder were accepted as jurors and the court adjourned until Monday.

The trial of the Durrant case was resumed this morning. Out of 25 venire men summoned only 22 appeared. Out of this number no new jurors were obtained. Although he occupied a seat on the bench Judge Murphy is still sick with la grippe. After the noon recess the case will be adjourned until Monday.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—A local paper says the last link in the chalp of evidence against Theodore Durrant has been discovered. A woman who lives across the street from Emanuel Baptist Church has reported to the police that she saw Durrant and Blanche Lamont enter the church at 4:10 o'clock on April 3, the day of Miss Lamont's disappearance. The woman's name is Mrs. Leake, and she lives at No. 124 Bartlett street. She is 70 years old, and has been a member of the church for a number of years. She knew both Durrant and Miss Lamont intimately and therfore cannot be mistaken with regard to the identity of either. She says that she has remained silent since the discovery of the bodies of the two girls because she did not wish to undergo the annoyance of being a witness in the case and did not consent to divulge her information to the police until she became convinced that it was a duty she owed to the State.

On April 3 Mrs. Leake sat at the ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

State.

On April 3 Mrs. Leake sat at the window of her residence nearly all of the afternoon looking for her daughter whom she expected to arrive from San Mateo. At 4 o'clock she saw a couple Mateo. At 4 o'clock she saw a couple coming up the street, one of whom she instantly recognized as Durrant, but at first she was puzzled over the identity of the girl. She first thought that the young lady was Lucille Turner, but as the couple came nearer Mrs. Leake recognized the girl as Blanche Lamont. Miss Lamont wore a short school-pirl's dress and carried a package of schoolbooks. The dress and schoolbooks were afterwards found secreted in the church. When the couple reached the church-books. The dress and schoolbooks were afterwards found secreted in the church.

When the couple reached the church-gate they stopped for a moment. Durrant opened the gate and they passed through. Mrs. Leake, from her point of observation, was watching them, and when the girl stepped through the gateway she said to herself: "What an imprudent thing for her to do."

Mrs. Leake knew nothing detrimental to Durrant. She had always considered him "such an exemplary young man," but notwithstanding that fact she thought it exceedingly imprudent for the girl to go into the church with him alone. She feared some one might have seen them and might make unpleasant remarks. She imagined that they had some errand in the church and expected in a few minutes they would come out. She watched carefully, but the gate did not open. There is only one entrance to Emanuel Church during the week, and that is by the side-gate and rear door. Mrs. Leake knew the young couple would have to pass through the gate and she wanted to see them on the street again before she left the window. She watted a long time, but household duties finally called her to another part of her flat and she was obliged to give up the vigit.

Mrs. Leake's testimony completes the chain of evidence against Durrant. Three schoolgirls saw Durrant and Lamont riding on a Powell-street car at 3:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the day on which Miss Lamont disappeared. Miss Quinlan saw the couples few minutes before 4 o'clock. Now comes Mrs. Leake who says she saw Durrant and Miss Lamont enter the church a few minutes later. George King, the organist, has already testifed that he entered the church about 6 o'clock and saw Durrant coming down from the attic. Durrant's hair was disheveled, his face was red, he was panting for breath and was in a state of utter physical and servous collapse. In answer to inquiries he explained that he had been engaged in rebairing electric wires in the organiott and had been overcome by gas. An expert electrician afterwards examined the wires and testified that no repairs of the nature Durrant claimed to have made had been made within six months.

"They pay $2 per day at hotels and charge the State $3.50 a day for it. These claims should be itemized in detail, and every dollar they spend should be set down," added the Attorney-General. "In many respects it would be a fair average, but it is not right. service, who accused him of stuffing the service, who accused him of stuffing the mails for the purpose of swelling the profits of the Southern Pacific Company. Colver has been suspended from duty, and it is believed that this is only preliminary to his permanent dismissal. The order was issued by the general superintendent of the Railway Mail Service at Washington. No reason was given for the suspension, but it is believed that he will be charged with insubordination in making accusations against Fiint to newspapers, thus violating one of the most stringent rules of the department.

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 18.—What appears to be the opening gun in the contest for the late Senator Foley's estate, appeared today in the form of a petition flied with the County Clerk by the counsel for Vernon Harrison Hartley, the illegitimate child of the late Senator and Mrs. Alice M. Hartley.

The paper sets forth that Senator Foley had acknowledged the parentage of the child in writing before good witnesses and prays that one-half of the entire estate be made over to the child and that the other half go to the other heirs. It is believed that the paper acknowledging the facts is now locked up in the vaut of a Salt Lake bank. At any rate Mrs. Hartley, in her testimony in the murder trial, said that Senator Foley went to Salt Lake with the intention of filing the document with a lot of other private papers.

SIX SHOTS EXCHANGED.

Dr. H. R. Holmts and Dr. R. K. Ausplund Wound Each Other.

PORTLAND (Or.,) Aug. 16.—At noon today the reports of several pistol shots in rapid succession were heard to issue from the office of Dr. H. R. Holmes, in the Dekum building, at the corner of Third and Washington streets. The tenants of the building rushed in, and found the, prostrate bodies of Dr. Holmes and Dr. Robert K. Ausplund, each holding a smoking pistol in his hand. There were no other persons in the room. Ausplund had three holes in his body, one in his head, another in the breast and another in the right wrist. Holmes was wounded in two places, one in the arm, the other in the body, just below the left nipple.

Ausplund was taken to the hospital and Holmes to his residence. Ausplund's wounds will undoubtedly result fatally, while the physicians think that Holmes will recover. It is not known just what was the cause of the shooting, but it is thought that it was due to a criticism of Holmes on Ausplund's method of treating a patient in a Portland hospital, and that Ausplund called at Holmes's office to make him retract.

THE RAISIN-GROWERS.

Prospects Good for Lively Selling—
The Cash Offers.

GEGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
FRESNO, Aug. 16.—There is a more hopeful feeling among the raisin-grow-ers of Fresno County at the present time than there has been at any time ers of Fresno County at the present time than there has been at any time during the past three years. The refusal to consign crops to commission packers has been quite general, with the result that certain packers were unable to get any raisins at all and consequently were compelled to buy for cash. It is known that several other firms have but few contracts and the prospect now is that most of the raisin crop of this vicinity will be contracted for cash during the next thirty days.

The first cash offers were only 2 cents a pound in the sweat-box, but the buyers were unable to get any contracts at that price and an advance has already been made. George Osborne of the Mson & Osborne vineyard today sold his crop of muscat raisins to Col. Forsythe for 2½ cents a pound. It is likely that a good many raisins can be bought at this figure, although a majority of growers will probably hold for 3 cents.

A considerable number of co-operative packing associations have recently been organized and the entire output of these associations will be sold through a central organization. Altogether the prospects are good for some lively times in raisin selling and the practical abandonment of the commission system.

FIESTA LUMBER SEATS.

Going to Sell Them for Next to Nothing.

Nothing.

At a meeting of the Merchants' Association of Los Angeles last Thursday a resolution was adopted to sell all the lumber used for seats and platforms during the last flesta and which is stacked up at Athletic Park. It was also voted at the same meeting to receive bids for the purchase of the same. The accounts of the Flesta Committee show that this lumber and the construction of the seats cost about $6500, of which nearly $6000 was for the lumber and bolts. As no bids have yet been received it is impossible to say what the highest bid will be, but it is generally believed that it will not be more than a few hundred dollars. A Times reporter, talking about this, learned that a good deal of surprise existed over the action of the Merchants' Association. No one seemed to see the necessity of selling over $5000 worth of lumber for a few hundreds and then going to work and buying it over again for the next ficsta for $5000 or more. One member of the last Festa Committee said:

"Why it is just throwing about $5000"

member of the last Festa Committee said:

"Why it is just throwing about $5000 away. That lumber will be wanted for next year's fiesta, and as the seats were not nailed but boited, the lumber is better than new lumber would be, because the bolt holes are already made in it." He went on to say that the lumber was good for seats for the next ten years and why the Merchants' Association should want to throw it away for a few hundred dollars was more, he said, than anyone outside of the Merchants' Association knew.

The only explanation that could be obtained for this proposed action of the Merchants' Association was that the latter wanted to reduce the fiesta deficit, for the payment of which no provision has yet been made, and which is about $2500. It is stated that the receipts from the sale of seats at the last fiesta covered more than one-half the cost of lumber and labor. "Next year's seat receipts," said the same member, "will provide enough to more than pay the remainder of the cost, so that even as a business proposition it would be more sensible to hold on to the lumber than to sell it now for next to nothing." DROPPED DEAD.

Sudden Death of John L. Bridge Yes-terday Evening.

At about 6:15 o'clock yesterday evening.

At about 6:15 o'clock yesterday evening John L. Bridge, an aged capitalist and well-known citizen, dropped dead while conversing with a party of friends at No. 215 West First street. He appeared to be in his usual good health and was jovial and happy up to the moment of his death, one of his very last acts being to speak encouraging words to cheer up a sick friend who was one of the party. He was in the act of making some jovial remarks when he pitched suddenly forward into the arms of William Hersey, who was borne down with him and held him while he drew his last breath.

Coroner Campbell was hastily summoned from his office in the Wilson Block. He took charge of the body and sent it to Kregelo & Bresee's undertaking rooms, where an inquest will be held this morning. From a superficial examination it appears that Mr. Bridge died of heart disease. He was laboring under no mental or physical excitement at the time, and his death could not have been more unexpected nor peaceful.

John L. Bridge was 76 years old and was a highly respected citizen. He resided at No. 825 South Bonnie Brae street, his family consisting of his wife, also quite aged, a married daughter and a married son. He was in the act of saying good-by to his friends at the time of his death, as he was going to Glendora today with his wife to visit their daughter, Mrs. Cole, who resides there, intending to prolong his stay.

Mr. Bridge came to Los Angeles from Denver four or five years ago and invested considerable money in property and business here, although leading a rather retired life. He was associated in a business way with the firm of Nolan & Smith.

Max Meyberg of this city has tendered his resignation as chairman of the State Development Committee of the Half Million Club. Since doing so he has been urgently requested by members of the committee to reconsider his action, but he adheres to it. He feels that, with the majority of the committee in San Francisco, it would be impossible for him, at this distance, to give proper attention to the various matters that would necessarily come up for the consideration of the committee. He has consequently deemed it the better part of wisdom not to attempt doing what, under existing circumstances, he could not satisfactorily perform.

BANK CLEARANCES. The Bank clearances for today as reported to The Times by the Los Angeles Clearing-house are $206,040.73; balances, $23,841.19.

GOLD SHIPMENTS. Tonight's dispatches from New York to The Times state: "Handy & Harman will export $100,000 in gold; Nesslage & Fuller $200,000, and Hard & Rand $100,000 tomorrow."

ing dispatch was received by The Time tonight from New York: "The Herali-says the most important fact that ha developed in the financial situation is if any, are paying a premium for gold, but the fact is known that the gold syndicate on Tuesday last deposited at the assay office $200,000 in gold builton and received assay office checks for it. Of this amount $60,000 consisted of private smelter bars, and the remainder of assay office bars.

"The conclusion to be drawn from this transaction is that the syndicate is continuing its accumulation of gold, which is supposed to have been going on for some time, but the extent of which has been carefully concealed.

"Of course, all this does not indicate that gold rules at a premium, for there is no difficulty in obtaining it at the sub-treasury without paying a premium. The fact of a ruling premium would soon become known, but the fact that special efforts are made to keep it secret that any premiums are paid if such is really the case—seems to indicate that the syndicate has an object in keeping its plan quiet. If it were known that it were true that the syndicate has set out to accumulate a large amount of buillion for the purpose of protecting the treasury reserve or for other purposes, its plans might be hindered in one way or another."

WHEAT FOR EXPORT. Dun's Review (New York) speaking in its issue of August 3 of the quantity of wheat in California available for ex-sue of August 3 of the quantity of wheat in California available for export this season, says:

"The first month of grain harvesting has passed with disappointing results. In various sections grain failed to head out, diminishing the yield and impairing the quality. Some districts report the lightest crop for many years, and but for the 200,000 tons of wheat carried over from last year, the quantity for export would fall much short of previous years. It is doubtful whether we have over 800,000 tons for export."

An examination of the situation shows that the quantity given in the above quotation from Dun's Review—800,000 tons—is considerably in excess of what the actual available quantity will be. That much is shown by the following figures. The last semi-annual statement of the San Francisco Produce Exchange shows that at the close of the wheat season. June 1, 1885, there was remaining on hand in the State 225,637 tons of wheat, including flour reduced to wheat, and including flour reduced to wheat or wheat. For the present year—1895—the secretary of the San Francisco Produce Exchange estimates the wheat crop of the State at 800,000 tons. This would give a grand total of wheat for the present season of 1,125,637 tons.

From this must be deducted as follows: Required for home consumption, 165,000 tohs; required for seed, 125,000 tons; quantity (estimated) of the carry over on June 1, 1896, 250,000 tons; total

Dun's Weekly Review.

Dun's Weekly Review.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co. will say in their review of trade tohiorrow that a belated season and a froson May set everything back. The heavy business which ought to have been done in May and June was pushed into July, so that the midsummer decline due in July comes in August, and it is not surprising to find the shrinkage from July to August rather more consplicuous than usual. The disappointing crop reports of last Saturday, though evidently distrusted, lessen confidence in regard to the future of trade, seen while some speculators gain by them. Back of all doubts is the fact that the industries are doing better than anybody could have expected. The output of pig-iron August 1 was 180,525 tons weekly or 178,505 by another report, in either case close to the largest output in 1893. Unsold stocks are S5,000 tons smaller, the steel companies having made heavy purchases in advance of needs, but the actual consumption is large and prices rise in the face of the increasing output. Beasemer iron is 18-15. at Pittsburgh, and plates have advanced 31 per ton. The sales of steel rails in 1895 to August 1 were 820,000 tons, and the deliveries 583,000. Wages in this industry have been generally advanced and atrikes are few. Minor metals changed little, though large sales litted lake copper to 124c. Textile imports have been very heavy and advances in cotton goods to some extent check buying, while Fall River spinners are organising for the restoration of wages path before the panic. The sales of wool were 6,313,400 domestic and 6,05,600 foreign last year, and 1,-859,900 domestic and 4,568,500 foreign in 1,893, indicating that the domestic wool is largely held for speculation at prices about 10 higher than manufacturers feel able to pay. Path ures for the week have been 196 in the United States, as against 45 last year.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that midsummer quietness is more conspicuous than a week ago, though less so in industrial than in commercial lines. As a rule the large manufacturing industries are exceptionally busy, and the demand for iron and steel continues. Gross and net railroad earnings returns for the first half of the present year show a very satisfactory aggregate gain over last-year, a period of great onal and railroad strikes and of financial and industrial depression and derangement. The best showings is clearings are made by the Central and Western and Eastern Southwestern roads, while the only decreases noted are in the Granger and Southern roads. Jobbers in the more important staple lines at Chicago. St. Louis, Kansas City Omahs, Milwaukee and Minneapolis report an improved demand. The outlook at all those points is for an active fail business. Kansas City dealers do not regard an early advance in prices of live stock as probable. At Omah the country merohants are said to be buying more freely that in commer vars. At San Francisco leading commerciants commerciants commerciants commerciants and the former wars. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Today's trading in the stock market was even lighter than on any of the preceding dull days. The leading operators are said to be holding aloof until the exchange situation resumes its normal condition. Gold engagements for tomorrow were much lighter than expected, owing to the drawing of bills against sales of American railroad securities in Europe. For the week ending tomorrow the shipments of gold will aggregate 4,300,000. Trading for the foreign account was light, but it was all on the long side, which is encouraging. American Tobacco was again offered for sale on the opposition to the trust, supplemented by Chicago advices that Atty. Gen. Maloney proposes to call up his motion to have his que warranto suit, to declare the American Tobacco Company an illegal corporation. The stock broke 2% per cent., but closed % per cent. above the lowest point touched. Lake Erie and Western was heavier on talk of extending the road and attendant decreased net earnings, the common stock losing 1% and the preferred 1 per cent, from yesterday's close. Most of the market was erratic and the fluctuations very marrow. The market closed steady. Bonds were strong, sales assuregating $1,287,000.

After a day of suspense and impa noying delays were gone through be-fore the case came to an issue at all. The Courthouse took several small naps before it could really make up its a hearing within its drowsy precincts, and the need for a relay of summer judges to take the places of the half-dozen who are simultaneously recuper-ating their exhausted faculties at va-rious summer resorts, was painfully evident.

Judge Clark was caught on Thursday, the day originally appointed for the sale, and kept on the bench long enough to issue the restraining order, which he made returnable to Judge Shaw at 10 a.m. yesterday. The delegation of Bay City capitalists assembled in Department Five promptly at the hour named, but Judge Shaw did not see his way clear to hearing the case, as he was of the opinion that the injunction should be denied, and therefore, could not give an impartial hearing to the cause.

In spite of this disappointment, the litigants were not to be discouraged, and at once telephoned to Santa Monica for Judge McKinley, who consented to come up and settle the affair. The case was continued until 2 p.m. but the free-and-easy train-service compelled the judge to trust to the heels of his faithful steed, and the chunk of sleek and gilded capitalists were obliged to possess their souls in patience for still another hour, when the court arrived, covered with dust and the emanation of conscious rectitude and with a large expanse of sunburn accumulated upon its judicial nose.

No time was lost in getting at the business in hand. The complaint.

Four affidavits were then introduced by, the defense, signed respectively by E. B. Pond, one of the trustees; Henry C. Campbell, the attorney of the San Francisco Savings Union; Lovell White, secretary, cashler and principal administrative officer of the same corporation, and Thomas Brown, cashler of the Bank of California, which holds the 3000 bonds mentioned in the complaint. In substance, all four of the affiants had had extended experience in sales under foreclosure by trustees under deeds of trust; that they all believed there existed no prejudice among investors against purchasing property at a trustees' sale, except under a decree of court, when the property might detariorate during the refraction of the 2000 bonds had agreed to bid at the sale, and, if possible, to buy the property in order to proteet their own investments, hoping to induce all bondholders to j must be effected soon or involve great loss.

A motion to amend the complaint was then laid before the court, and argued during the remainder of the afternoon session, and through part of the evening, when it was finally denied. The principal features of the amendment were that the bondholders referred to in the complaint as possessing more than one-third of all the bonds issued, are the Bank of California, which owns bonds to the value of $161,000; the San Francisco Savings Union, $230,000; the Pacific Rolling Mills, $612,000, and Antonio Borel, $40,000, making a total of $1,043,000; that M. H. THE WIDOWS' MITE.

THE WIDOWS MITE.

Two Elderly Women Aleged to Have Been Swindled.

A private dispatch from San Francisco yesterday stated that two wealthy widows, Mrs. Susan Denton and Mrs. Warring, residing at the Westminster Hotel, this city, had been swindled out of $25,000 by John C. Beatty and his son, Herbert.

Beatty and son are the promoters of a mammoth irrigation enterprise in the Colorado Desert, San Diego county, opposite Yuma, Ariz. For the past year, up to about six weeks ago, they were at the Westminster Hotel a good portion of the time.

Mrs. Denton and Mrs. Warring of New York city registered at the Westminster last April during fiesta week and remained there till last Saturday when they left for the Palace Hotel, San Francisco. They are women of wealth and culture, and during their stay in Los Angeles moved in the highest social circles. They were on very intimate terms with the Beattys, and informed persons about the hotel that they had invested $100,000 in their irrigation scheme.

Up to the time of their departure last Saturday they said not a word about having been swindled, and if they have expressed any such opinion, it has been since leaving here.

The Beattys while not looked upon as being wealthy themselves, were regarded honest at the hotel.

No confirmation of the swindling story could be had here, beyond the fact that the women had invested $100,000 in the enterprise, the success of which appears to depend largely of the ability of its promotors to secure enough money to carry it through.

At the meeting of the City Council last Monday action was taken upon the widening and opening of Ninth and Santee streets, the City Clerk being instructed to prepare the necessary ordi-nances of intention for publication as required by law. The clerk performed required by law. The clerk performed his duty in the matter, but the Express, the dewspaper publishing the ordinance, made a bad mess of the publication and in consequence the City Clerk has prepared the following report in the matter, which will be presented to the Council next Monday:

The marvelous progress of Southern California, and especially of Los An geles, during the past few years, and the certain promise of still more wonderful progress in the immediate future, have and pretty souls in less favored sec-tions. The Times recently repub-lished, as a specimen of the malignant oods concerning this city and sec tion which certain unscrupulous persons have circulated, an article from the Sacramento Bee, a newspape which is capable of decency and fair-fiess. The article was republished, practically entire, in these columns, to reason that it furnished its own most complete refutation. No person in the least familiar with Los Angeles and Southern California could read the mass of silly and malicious falsehoods contained in the article referred to without being convinced of the writsillanimity as well as of his malice. "He Was Glad to Get Home.—School Director A. W. Lambert arrived home yesterday on the steamer State of Callfornia from a two weeks' business trip to California. He was as far south as Los Angeles, and formed a very poor opinion of that city as a summer residence, at least. He says the trip from San Francisco to Los Angeles was miserably uncomfortable. The thermometer stood at 115 in the shade, and there was no shade for anything else to stand in. The alkall dust invaded the cars and parched the lips and throats of the passengers. There are oll wells on every block and on nearly every lot in Los Angeles, and the smell is overpowering. He stayed at one of the best hotels, and in the night imagined that the gas was escaping and inat he would be asphyxiated. He wint downstairs to inquire into the matter, and was told that it was the smell from the oil wells which troubled him. The water, was not fit to drink, after Bull Run water, and beer was too expensive. Citizens who can afford it drink mineral water. THE MIDSUMMER NUMBER.

Very Enthusiastic Praise. For Enthusiastic Praise.

EOS ANGELES, Aug. 15, 1885.—(To the Editor of The Times:) It is a "James Dandy," and by "it" I refer to the Midsummer Number, which is far and away not only what you claim it to be, the best of all your issues, but by far the handsomest issue of any dally paper that I ever saw. In typographical make-up, but more especially in the paper that I ever saw. In typographical make-up, but more especially in the wealth, arrangement and beauty of its illustrations, it is without a peer, and will doubtless prove of great value to this section. A more elaborate, beautiful, comprehensive and correct exposition of this glorious "Summer Land" it would be impossible to produce, and I want to congratulate you and your artist, both of whom have done such splendid work. I take off my hat to both of you, and in so doing I believe I voice the sentiment of the whole community, which is proud of The Times munity, which is proud of The Times and its editor and artist.

Admiringly yours, (Los Angeles Herald:) Our morning contemporary, The Times, issued its Midsummer Number yesterday morning one would not convey a proper idea of its worth. It was an issue which re-flects great credit upon The Times-Mirers employed, and, what is better, it can Los Angeles may be proud. The mid-summer issue of The Times stands pre-eminently as the best, the most comprehensive and complete of all efforts to present the resources of Southern California in a single issue of a newspa-per. In this respect The Times must bear the palm until the Herald eclipses it in a later edition.

None Are Neglected-All Fairly

Treated." (San Diego Union:) The Midsummer Number of the Los Angeles Times is one of the most superb editions ever issued by any paper on the Pacific Coast. It comprises forty pages ele-gantly illustrated and filled with enter-taining matter. It is emphatically a taining matter. It is emphatically a Southern California edition, the pecullar features and advantages of each locality in the southern part of the State being accurately described. None are neglected, and all are fairly treated. The literary style of the paper, too, is far superior to that of most editions of this sort. The Midsummer Number will be invaluable to send east, as it contains exactly the information which contains exactly the information which people are seeking about Southern Cal-ifornia. Under the long and able man-agement of Col. Otis The Times has issued many special editions of rare excellence. It is not too much to say that the Midsummer Number of 1895

(Commercial Bulletin, Los Angeles:)
On Thursday The Times put out a fortypage Midsummer Number full of good matter about life in all its phases in this charming land of sunshine. It is an excellent paper to send east on missionary work among people so unfortunate as not yet to live in this most perfect climate.

(Southwest News, Los Angeles;) Those who have failed to see a copy of the Los Angeles Daily Times of Thursday, August 15, have missed a treat. This issue of our great daily, called the "Midsummer Number." has been prepared with the greatest care and is replete with valuable and interesting information concerning the land of sunshine in which we live. Those who have friends who contemplate a trip to California, should supply them with a copy of this issue of The Times, as it would be of inestimable value in giving them a clear idea of this country.

"By All Odds the Most Valuable."
(Pasadena News, August 15:) The Los Angeles Times today issued a Midsimmer Number of forty pages that is by all odds the most valuable and comprehensive edition of a newspaper ever piblished in Southern California. The special object of the edition is to set forth Southern California's advantages as a summer resort; to dispel the idea that because our winters are mild, our summers must be unendurably hot. The News has always maintained that, although Pasadena is best known as a winter resort, the summers here are the most delightful season of the year, and it is gratifying to note that The Times has seen fit to issue a mammoth edition to assist in educating Easterners up to this idea. The Times Midsummer Number will prove a very valuable advertisement for Southern California, and should be widely circulated in the East.

"In the matter of proposals to furnish heating and ventilation for school buildings, we recommend that the system and bid of Bennett & Besore be adopted at price submitted, which is $22,466 for all the buildings advertised, the same being the lowest bid by $2435; also that the Superintendent of Buildings be directed to provide for this system of heating and ventilation in plans and specifications for schoolhouses to be constructed, provided said parties will give satisfactory security that they will put in said heating and ventilating appliances in buildings, as per plans and specifications submitted by them for the amount of their bid as a whole or as itemized for the separate buildings. And that it shall be optional with the city to place said system of heating and ventilating any time within the next six months."

A representative of the Baker Iron Works was present during the reading of the report, and, at its conclusion, addressed the Council, protesting against the award of heating contracts being made to the firm recommended by the committee, claiming that the company he represents is entitled to the work on the Union-avenue. San Pedro and Gates-street schools, having made the lowest bid on these buildings. MONEY TO BURN.

The Plethorie Condition of the City The Plethoric Condition of the City Clerk's Purse.

City Clerk Luckenbach does not hanker after the pleasant sensation induced by the Jingling of coin in the pockets of one's "jeans" and yesterday indited a short communication to the Council inviting that body to relieve him of the custody of sundry sums;

him of the custody of sundry sums which in various ways have found their way into his coffers. His communication is as follows:

"At the last meeting of the Council, in acting on the proposals for franchise on Macy street and Mission road, your honorable body awarded the franchise to E. P. Clark, which was the second highest bid, and left undetermined the matter of the check deposited by Mr. Small. I would like instructions from your honorable body as to what I shall do with this check.

"In the matter of bids for the construction of the school buildings which were first awarded to W. B. Robb, and upon his declination to enter into a contract, to John Rebman, I now hold the checks deposited by Mr. Robb, amounting to $1300. Your honorable body took no action in reference to the disposition of these checks, and I respectfully ask instructions in the matter.

"In the matter of the check deposited by J. E. White to pay the cost of repairs on the Hollenbeck Arroyo sewer, which matter has been before your honorable body on several occasions."

sition of this check."

The check deposited by Mr. Small, referred to, is for $376, and that of Mr. White for $98.50, the total amount of the three checks in the possession of the clerk being $1774.50.

THEY WILL NOT SERVE.

doomed to disappointment. Whatever hopes were involved in the personnel of the new commission will never materialize in results. One of the new commissioners, Julius H. Martin, yesterday filed a letter of declination with the City Clerk, and another is expected to do likewise today or on Monday. Mr. Martin's letter is worded as follows:

"C. A. Luckenbach, City Clerk—Dear Sir: I have been notified of my election by the Council as a member of the Police Commission of this city. I am very much gratified at this unsolicited homor, but as my time is already fully occupied, I am compelled to refrain from accepting this appointment. I consider the office a very important one, but as my time already belongs to others, I am conscious that I could not devote proper attention to the duties of the position. Will you please communicate my intention as above to the homorable Council at your earliest convenience.

"Very respectfully,

"Very respectfully,
"JULIUS H. MARTIN."

The first intimation that Mr. Martin might not accept a place upon the new Police Commission was given in The Times of Wednesday, when, in an interview, Mr. Martin stated it as probeble that the duties of his position as secretary of a local loan association, would prevent his accepting the office tendered him.

prevent his accepting the office tendered him.

It can now be stated as an almost positive certainty that the declination of Mr. Martin will be followed by the resignation of Henry Glass, who was elected on Monday, qualified on Thursday, and will, in all probability, resign before the Council meets on Monday. Mr. Class was seen last evening, and questioned by a Times, reporter, who had been given to understand that Mr. Glass contemplated resigning the position and honors so recently thrust upon him. Mr. Glass is engaged in the business of binding books, and in his capacity as a binder has performed work for the city, amounting to hundreds of dollars, and naturally hopes to perform as much more in the future. The city charter, however, provides that ne municipal officer shall be a party to a contract for work paid for by the city. And it is in connection with this proposition that the rub course with the

A large delegation of citizens, interested in the granting of the Eighthstreet electric-raliway franchise, was present yesterday, when the Board of Public Works was called to order, but owing to the absence, through illness, of Chairman Munson, the question was not considered by the board, action on the same being deferred for one week. The petition of Herman de Laguna for a telephone franchise, mention of which has already been made, was discussed by the board, but final section upon the petition was deferred. The gentlemen who have hitherto appeared before the board with enticing street-sign propositions, were present yesterday morning, but their efforts to obtain a recommendation from the board were futile. No action was taken upon their propositions. Action upon other matters referred by the Council to the board was taken as follows:

"Recommended that the Street Super-

AT THE COURTHOUSE. THE COURTS.

Phelps and Lowe Released from the Charge of Robbery.

Mart Phelps and Jim Lowe, the two saloen-keepers accused by A. F. Bland of robbing him of 44 in silver coin, were tried yesterday in the Township Court. The case amounted to nothing, practically speaking, for the evidence was insufficient to support the charge, and the action against the two men was promptly thrown overboard by Depuity District Attorney James, but from that same evidence, there is no doubt that A. F. Bland was a badly-used man, who was relieved of his gold in a neat and daished manner by some person or persons.

Bland strolled into the saloon on the evening of August 12, attracted by the sound of a symphony on the "bones." performed by an expert in that species of minstrelsy, who adorned the saloon with his presence and talents.

After digging up a dime, with which to reward the bone-player, Bland treated the crowd, and feeling particularly wealthy with $25 in his pocket, he consented readily to join in a game of "seven-up," which was proposed. The first three cards weare dealt, and Bland, exclaiming that he had a good poker hand, offered to bet $30 against any other hand in the crowd, A stranger across the table promptly raised him $5, and the hands were shown. The stranger possessed three hearts, and claimed a flush, but Bland waved three aces in the air and readhed for the spoils. A scume ensued, in which Bland was knocked down and relieved of $4 by the mysterious stranger, who promptly levanted with his fill-rotten gains.

Bland swore out a complaint against the whole growd, including Lowe and Pheips, who did not offer to touch him, but "John Doe," who alone took the cash, was non est, and there was no case against the other men.

The cards were produced in court and subjected to the examination of several poker experts, who upheld Bland as the winner, inasmuch as both hands were incomplete, and no man ever yet held a straight flush on three cards.

The Sheriff's office was in its usual somnolent state of innocuous desuetude yesterday afternoon when a sharp clang aroused in an instant all the reserve force in that well-regulated department devoted to the public safety. The alarm bell of the treasury had rung. In fact, it had rung twice, sharply and imperatively, and the wealth of the county was menaced by freebooters who recked not of the terrors of the law.

Under Sheriff Clement and Deputy Sheriff Byam each took his "gun" in one hand and his life in the other, and cautiously ascended the stairs. Arrived at the door of the endangered treasury, they put aside all base fear, and boldly entered as became brave and faithful officers of the liw. The door, when dashed open, revealed a truly appalling vision of desperate crime masquerading under the guise of youth and innocence.

The alarm button had merely been the latest plaything of the small daughter of Treasurer Fleming, a wee damsel of 2, who was taking in the Courthouse under the fostering care of an able-bodied nurse.

The Pice Hair Chain.

Old Pio Pice's gold-mounted hair chain was the subject of renewed littigation yesterday in Justice Young's court. The chain, which was constantly worn by the old Governor, was claimed, after his death, by his daughter, Senora Joaquina Pico de Moreno, on the ground that she had given it to her father, and therefore had a right to it upon his death.

Alfredo Pico, administrator of the estate, refused to give up the chain, which is valued at about $30, and Senora Moreno brought the matter into the courts. Judge Young decided that, as she proved the fact of having made the gift to her father, she was entited to the chain, which was accordingly awarded to her.

Henry P. Schildwachter, as assignee of A. P. Nelson, an insolvent debtor, yesterday filed two suits to recover property fraudulently conveyed by the insolvent for the purpose of defraudinging his creditors. One suit is brought against Isabelle E. Wright and Julian C. Wright, to whom Nelson conveyed property in the amount of $80c; and the other against John Nelson and W. T. Kastner, who received from the insolvent property valued at $700.

Wool-growing does not seem to be any more profitable at the present time in Arizona than it is in California. The Flagstaff (Ariz.) Sun cites an instance of a wool-grower in that Territory who consigned 50,000 pounds of wool to a Boston firm. He received an advance of 4 cents a pound on it, but when it was sold he received a letter asking him to remit $46.25 to close the account, as the wool sold for that much less than the 4 cents a pound advanced on it. Three years ago, remarks the Sun, the same quality of wool realized in Arizona 16 cents à pound.

Every one comments on the large number of pretty girls at Catalina this summer; comments on the large number of pretty girls at Catalina this summer; indeed, the scene at the pavilion evening after evening is akin to a realization of Tennyson's "Dream of Fair Women." The beautiful faces, charming gowns of filmy white or delicate evening shades, and graceful movements of these lovely California girls is enough to captivate and utterly bewilder the most pronounced old cynic that ever steeled his heart against the fascinations of women. The almost universal dearth of handsome and gallant gentlemen, which is a feature of the usual summer resort, is literally unknown here, too, and the girls find plenty of beaus to appreciate their charms. A correspondent writes to The Times, calling attention to the filthy condition of Postoffice Station C, on North Main street. A visit to the place by a reporter, demonstrated the fact that the place is as dirty as it was declared to be. The floor, even on Monday morning, when it should at least show some signs of having been introduced to a broom, was thick with dust, ancient quids, and waste paper, and the windows were covered with fly-specks and dust. Crops and Markets. The fruit crop of Southern Calfornia if not better, than was anticipated at the beginning of the season. The packers who operate the large canneries in this section are complaining about the prospect for their business. They say that all the canneries worked on a very small margin and that up to the present time the sales made to Eastern buyers are not more than one-third those which were made at the same time last year. This is atto the fact that the eastern buyers are unwilling to purchase at this time of year, when prices are gen-erally higher than they are later on. hoped that this condition of af fairs will not continue long. The short of apricots in the northern par of the state is especially relied upon to about a good demand at firm es for this fruit before long. It is ald by the canners that the apricot crop has already been disposed of. The growers received good prices for this fruit, canners paying from $25 to canneries are now buying pears, peaches, plums and prunes, for which nge from $15 to $20 per ton, which is about the same as that paid luring the past three seasons. Excepting pears, the crop of these fruits is and growers will make good re-

One fact in regard to deciduous fruit in this section which is only of late being understood by the purchasers, is that it keeps and ships fully as well if not better than that which is raised in the northern part of the state. There was a prevalent opinion among fruit ouyers for some time that the deciduous fruit raised in Southern California was not suitable for shipping purposes The change in opinion on this subject s perhaps partly due to the fact that many of our fruit growers have discovered that it is not necessary to irrigate iduous fruits throughout a large part of Southern California. Among the deciduous fruits which promise to ed especially well is one which has hitherto been one of the great spe-cialties of Central Colifornia, especially Sacramento river region. This is the Bartlett pear, for which there is so great demand throughout the East and even in Europe, as the recent sales in that country show. A firm of fruit shippers who have been pack product of a Bartlett pear orchard in the San Fernando valley re ently expressed to the owners agree able surprise at the remarkab lence of the fruit, which they were un stated that they could be relied upon tnat crop and to look around for other fruit of equal excellence. '
There is no doubt that from now or the deciduous fruit crop of Southern California will rapidly come to the front and increase in importance as a rival of the citrus fruit crop. For a long ime it was impossible to talk anything set out an orchard in this section orange men, have encountered in marpersons to investigate the subthe result that not a few have com conclusion that when properly cultivated and cared for such fruits as prunes, apricots, nectarines, peaches and pears will pay profits little inferior average orange grove, while they have the advantages of bearing earlier, of growing on cheaper land, of requiring less irrigation—or perhaps none at all—and above all of being marketable in a dried condition, so that the grower is not forced to rush them on the market whatever the range of prices may be.

If the growing of deciduous fruits is to be so greatly extended in Southern California it is more than ever neces-sary that the growers should combine for their own protection, as the orange growers have done, and it is to be hoped that a combination of this kind may be formed before the deciduous fruit crop of 1896 begins to ripen. In the general produce market prices have continued encouragingly steady and there has been a fair demand for almost all varieties of produce, with an occasional small slump here and there whenever one particular product has been sent in more rapidly than the local consumption could get away with. It is to be expected that before long Southern California will not only produce all the food products which are consumed here but will export large quantities to other sections. When that time arrives the market for all varieties of products will be much steadier than it is today.

A Remarkable Forage Plant.

A. N. Walton of No. 609 East Second street has left at the Times office a sample of the Australian salt bush, which was raised by him. If one-half is true of the qualities that are claimed for this remarkable plant, it will prove an exceedingly valuable acquisition to California. Mr. Walton states that it grows best on alkali soil; in fact, that it only flourishes in such soil. One root will cover as much as fourteen feet of ground, and the yield is said to average ten tons to the acre. No irrigation is required.

It is not necessary to point out the tion is required.

It is not necessary to point out the great benefit which such a plant as this would be to the stretches of arid alkali land, which are found here and there in the southern part of the county. The plant somewhat resembles affalfa in appearance, but the stems are thicker. Mr. Walton will be pleased to give any further information on the subject te those who are interested.

stage of growth, not only get large and finer fruit, but also fruit of bet ter quality. In the pear tree, one wh tries the experiment will be sur-prised to find how vastly superior in quality is a pear from a tree in which a larger number were thinned while the fruit was still young. The proper time to commence thinning is as soon as the fruit nces to swell. Nature herself throws off large numbers, which she feels she will be unable to bring to this has taken place will be the time for the good gardeners to help her still

The question of silk culture in Southern California, which has been discussed for a number of years, has again been brought to the front by the establish ment of a colony in San Diego county, near the coast, where it is intended to make silk culture the leading industry. As The Times has remarked on several occasions, the chief difficulty in the way of establishing this industry on a large scale in Southern California question of labor, which is so much higher here than in those eastern countries where silk is chiefly produced. That the raising of silk worms spinning of silk might be made profitable occupation for women dur ng a portion of the year, in addition to their other duties, there is no doubt, and any efforts made in that direction are worthy of encouragement. Mrs. Car-rie Williams of San Diego, who has devoted much study and practical investigation to this subject, has written a namphlet entitled "Instructions in Silk Culture." Those readers who are interested in the subject should send for a copy of this work,

Fine Peaches. W. H. Andrews of Toluca, in the San Fernando Valley, left some samples of fine peaches at The Times office during the past week, which were raised on his place. The ranch is on the branch line of the Southern Pacific to Chatsworth Park, which line runs through a fine stretch of country that has hitherto been much neglected. The west side of San Fernando Valley has been found particularly well adapted to the cultivation of several kinds of citrus fruits. It is probable that there will be quite a rapid devlopment of that section during the coming year, as land may still be

The natural life of a horse must de pend partly on its breeding, but quite as much on the kind of work it is set to do. An animal never driven fast, and thus strained or injured by hard roads will last to twenty-five years and do good service. But if driven hard on stone or asphalt roadbeds its feet will give out, and the animal will soon beworthless. Eli Wakelee of Anonia, Ct., has a team of horses 34 and 35 years old, which are yet in good con dition and do good work. Check Reins and Blinders.

(Farm News:) These are two twin relics of barbarism that still hold their own against all feeling of humanity, in many parts of our country. The blinder was invented probably to keep the horse from seeing anything that might be coming up behind him. Whoever invented it did not understand the functions of the eye of a horse at all. The eye of a horse is made so he can see through a very wide range, from the front to rear and the blinder hides from him three-quarters of what he can see through a very wide range, from the front to rear and the blinder hides from him three-quarters of what he can see without them. It is entered as an excuse that it keeps him from shying at the whip or anything that comes up suddenly behind. This plea is not good for a horse with blinders, once he learns that the whip is behind him, does not forget it and is in constant dread of being struck. He is more easily startled by a noise, the source of which he cannot see, than he would be if the blinders were off. The check-rein is worse than the blinder, and not a day passes but we see ladies riding at ease in comfortable carriagse while their horses are suffering torture because their heads are pulled up in an unnatural position and held there in a most cruel manner. There spirited horses are not tossing their heads as they go down the street because they are proud and high-lived. It is because they are in pain as cruel as ever possessed the victim of the rack, and it is downright savagery to drive a team reined up in that manner. We have seen ladies cry out when a horse was struck with a whip as if it had been themselves who received the blow, and at the same time the team in their carriage was in agony constantly because of the check-reins. A cruel blow-with a whip is a small affair beside the torture of a team with their heads checked up according to the ignorant ideals of the correct position.

Those who are raising pullets for layers should carefully distinguish between the food that is necessary for fitting cockerels for market, and that which will develop the laying pullets. A great percentage of layers are injured in ability to produce eggs by the improper course of feeding which many poultrymen employ. Oats, bran, clover and some good poultry powder are best for this purpose. When food is given in excess to a growing animal, not only is the food wasted, but the digestive organs are weakened.

now a full-fledged corporation. The capital stock is $10,000, divided into 10,000 shares of the par value of $1 each. Up to date there are $750 shares subscribed for. The priscipal place of business is in the city and county of San Francisco, State of California: object, to foster, protect, conduct and encourage the poultry and pigeon industry in all its branches. Board of directors elected for the ensuing year were as follows: Frank Seed, S. A. Wells, Elias Ruud, John F. Mecklem, T. W. Leydecker, W. G. Benton, G. W. Cumbers, George F. Emery, Frank Brush, W. P. Archibald, Charles A. Wright. The following officers were chosen: President, Frank Seed; vice-president, Charles A. Wright; secretary, John F. idecklem; treasurer, First National Bank of San Francisco. Bylaws were presented and passed to print, special and standing committees were appointed, and the board of directors went into committee of the whole to consider exhibition matters, when I. K. Felch was wired the association's acceptance to judge the show to be held in Oakland from January 15 to 21, 1896. Another reputable judge, not yet decided on, will be engaged later, as the association is promised nearly 2000 birds already, to say nothing of pigeons and pet stock, and will require two good judges. The "Decimal Score Card," by which the exhibition will be judged, is considered much speedier than the old system, and it is intended to have considerable judging done before the show opens, that visitors may have a chance to view the winners.

Much has been said and written lately as te what associations should and what they should not do, and, although it is very hard to suit everybody, we candidly think that the plans of this association will come as near as it is possible to get. It would take too much space here to explain the entire plan of the association, but a large number of extra copies of the by-laws will be printed and a copy malied to any address for the association as their stock is part of the subscribed capital stock. Third, it gives member

Another thing we are proud of is the fact that our object is not to help one breeder, one class of breeders, or breeders alone, but to foster and protect the industry in all its banches. We fully realize that the swath is wide, but we have eleven directors who are allve to the situation, and all the best poultrymen of California are coming to our support, making failure impossible and success and prosperity for poultrymen sure.

From our correspondence and exchanges it would seem that this will be not only a year for "floral splendor and carnivals" for California, but a year for "poultry shows" as well. We expect, of course, to have the largest and best, but at the same time wish our fellow associations well. The more the merrier, and the industry will reap the benefit. JOHN F. MECKLEM.

The contest will be of seven days' dura tion, commencing September 5, at 6 a.m. Every cow competing shall have been day at 6 p.m. Any two-year-old cow producing less than .08 pounds butter fat per day, and any three-year-old cow producing less than 1.03 pounds butter fat per day, and any four-year-old cow fat per day, and any five-year-old cow producing less than 1.49 pounds butter fat per day, shall be dropped after the second day's trial, and excluded from Agriculture can only be made success ful by adopting the same methods that apply to any other business or profes-sion. Wherever the farmer has adopted labor-saving appliances, systematized methods, looked after his employees just as the mill-owner does after his, made every moment of working time count, and allowed no material or product to and allowed no material or product to go to waste, he has been successful. This applies as well to the man who has a farm of fifty acres as it does to one with 500, and where you see a small farmer paying off the mortgage on his land and "getting ahead" in other ways, you will find a good man, and one that works his farm just as another works his mill or factory.

(Portland Sun:) John Milton says in relation to the tentworm: "I was, a few days ago, at Silverton, one of the thriftiest towns in Marion County. Nearly in the middle of it is the tine residence of one of the richest men of Marion County. In the roomy home lot are a few old apple trees so infested with the tentworm pest that if not destroyed they will shortly invade the home lots of this man's poor neighbors, who are in dread of just such an invasion as I have tried to describe. Within one-fourth of a mile of the rich man's residence is one of the owner of twenty-two acres, on which is an apple orchard which has been sprayed in season. It is depended on by its owner for its fruit as a means of living, and its promise is abundant, with not a single tentworm's nest to be seen.

"All the statements made to me in regard to this pest, verified by my own observations, are that orchards stripped of leaves by it one year give no blossoms, consequently no fruit, the succeeding year. I did not see a single young apple in Mr. Durbin's orchard, nor in that of another of more limited extent of old trees near by—the property of a widow, who made no effort to kill the post last year, because, as-her daughter naively said, she estimated that they could buy what fruit they used more cheaply than to spray the dozen or so of trees. This, the reader will perceive, is a harder case to deal with than the other, but this law seems necessary and opportune, and, of course, ought to be enferred sently where possible, and with care as to when, where and how poisons are used as agencies. I have only touched upon the observation of six days of field work. There are many other pests besides tentworms, and other branches of horticulture besides apple orchards. The hop-yards, for instance, to which I will give some attention."

SEWAGE IRRIGATION. Wrong Impression Created as t

the Facts.

It appears that a wrong impression has been created regarding the use of outfall sewage for irrigation purposes. In an article in an afternoon paper about two weeks ago the question of giving Bixby & Howard the right to conduct sewage through an open ditch was mentioned and in connection with the same matter it was related that garden vegetables were raised from irrigation by that sewage. This, it seems, is not the case.

garden vegetables were raised from irrigation by that sewage. This, it seems, is not the case.

Nearly all of the sewage sold from the outfall sewer for irrigation is sold either to Bixby & Howard for use on their ranch or to Dan Freeman for use on his land. Mr. Howard, of the above named firm, stated yesterday that the only vegetables raised on the land owned by his firm are potatoes and they require only a little irrigation. There are very few people living near where the sewage is conducted in an open ditch and they are all, or nearly all, of them renters of the land.

The use of the outfall sewage for irrigation, it is stated, means much more for this locality than most people realize. There are about 1300 acres of land now under irrigation from it and the flow of sewage which is used varies from three to eight heads. The area which it is possible to irrigate from the outfall amounts to about 7000 acres, and as house connections with city sewers are constantly being made, the quantity of water available will soon be sufficient to irrigate much more land than at present irrigated.

Not only does this mean a handsome sicient to irrigate much more land than at present irrigated. Not only does this mean a handsome revenue to the city from its sale but the producing power of the land irrigated is increased wonderfully. Assuming that the land without irrigation will rent for from $2 to $5 per acre the producing power by irrigation is raised to $60 to $100 or more per acre. By a simple computation it is easy to see that the irrigation in reality adds not a little to the wealth of the community by bringing money in from other parts of the country.

IN THE OIL DISTRICT. The New Industry is Advancing with

The New Industry is Advancing with Rapid Strides.

James Powell has a valuable piece of property in his well on Victor street, just north of Temple. For two weeks the well has been producing an average of 120 barrels a day. Saturday morning it gushed forth 125 barrels in less than three hours. The 350-barrel tank is brimming over with a fine thin oil, so the well has been plugged up until a new tank of the same capacity can be built.

Things look very hopeful in this neighborhood, on the edge of the field already opened. There are several hundred-barrel wells grouped here, and the Flint Bros. have so much confidence in it that they are beginning work on a well a block to the northeast of any yet dug.

G. S. Underwood and F. A. Short are building a shop on the corner of Temple and Figueroa, where they will make a business of making and mending drilling machinery.

Almost all of the gas which pours forth from the oil wells is entirely wasted. A little is used by the people living right among the derricks, for domestic purpose. Oil is so cheap that most of the engines burn only that, merely because people don't take the trouble to connect a pipe with the plentiful supply of gas in the tubing. It is an instance of the value of this gas that B. E. Strausg gets enough from one well to pump seven others, using only a very little oil now and then to help out.

The Richards, Valentine & Cook well has settled down to a steady flow of the green oil at the rate of 140 barrels a day. The proprietors yesterday introduced a pumping-jack of an improved pattern which is a great advance on the old varieties.
